

Everything needed for hunting – cutting tools for hunters

The long-established company Friedr. Dick presents top quality tools for processing game with different shapes and lengths of blade for every task and cut. The knife is one of the most important implements that a hunter needs. A hunter's basic equipment consists of knives for dressing and cutting game. The wide variety of F. DICK butcher's knives is already used by hunters and the high quality and good price-performance ratio offered by Friedr. Dick products has convinced many hunters.

In response to the increasing automation and acceleration in everyday life, many people are refocused on nature and a more traditional and sustainable way of life. Above all, the closeness to nature and an interest in the origin of food products are decisive drivers in this respect. Reliable quality, a long service life and products tailored precisely to the application are therefore also important for the tool used.

Butcher's and hunting knives from Friedr. Dick are made exclusively of high-alloy, stainless steel. This basic material is the basis for further processing right through to the finished quality knives. The knives are 100% made in Germany and are designed for easy, fatigue-free and pain-free work. They lie comfortably and naturally in the hand, which significantly reduces tension, strain and discomfort. The surface structure of the handle is particularly slip-proof, even when wet or greasy.

Butcher's knife from F. DICK are fitted with fixed plastic handles. This means that the connection between the handle and the blade is completely tight and that no gap occurs if sidewise pressure is applied to the blade and no foreign particles can penetrate into the handle.

Friedr. Dick offers knife sets specially tailored to hunters' needs. An indoor hunting set ideal for skinning, cutting, removing and trimming game indoors in butchery areas, as well as an outdoor set for dressing, gutting
